ST. LOUIS, Aug. 6.-The Senators got there in gallant style today, the youth-ful Jacobsen having the better of a splendid tilt with the veteran Sudhoff. splendid tilt with the veteran Sudhoff.

The game was an excellent battle, with the tailenders triumphing by the tight score of 2 to 1.

Jake Stahl and Tex Hill were the Senators to come to Jacobsen's rescue in the nick of time. With a 1-to-1 score running from the third inning to the eighth, these chaps batted together, and the safeties they gathered are what gave Washington its first victory of the trip.

Stahl and Hill. Jacobsen was first up in the eighth. He perished at first on Wallace's splendie assist. Stahl, who had previously doubled, cracked to the bulletin board, in deep center, and legged it around to third before Heidrick's return reached the inner works. Hill then slapped a pretty liner into right, and Stahi raced in with the tally that settled the ar-

Jacobsen pitched splendid ball from first to last. With his side in front he saw that the Browns were retired he saw that the Browns were retired without doing any damage in the eighth and ninth. In the eighth the young boxman retired Hemphill, Moran, and Wallace as quickly as they faced him. In getting rid of Hemphill he handled Stahl's assist in sensational fashion. Jones was a corpse at first on Cassidy's chuck in the minth. Sugden then scratched a single through the box. Jacobsen put on a little more steam and Kahoe lifted to Huelsman, while Hines, the Browns' new outfielder, went out on three swings at the ball. Donovan's men, barring Cassidy, who, despite his errors, caused no harm, played tip-top ball.

Kittridge and Hill collided in chasing a foul spiral in the fourth. Hill made the catch all right, and then sank to the ground in pain. Kittredge also hit the sod, but both were up in a few minutes little the worse for the collision. Howell and Wolfe are the pitchers carded for duty tomorrow.
